

Berat, Albania

7 days, Berat and Gjirokastër

Fri 16 Oct to Thu 22 Oct

People
2 people

Dates
6 nights

Your route
Berat, Gjirokastër

Lifestyle
Entire place, Easygoing

Your trip costs

Getting there	€180.00 (yours)
Getting home	Not in the total
Airport transfers	~€120.00 est.
Between your stops	~€6.00 est.
Beds	~€294.36 est.
Food and drink	~€371.44 est.
Total for 2 people	~€971.80 est.
A person	~€485.90 est.

Your route

Getting there

Flight

1. Berat, Albania

3 nights, Fri 16 Oct to Mon 19 Oct

Beds	~€151.72 est.
Bus Berat > Gjirokastër	~€6.00 est.

2. Gjirokastër, Albania

3 nights, Mon 19 Oct to Thu 22 Oct

Beds	~€142.64 est.

Getting home

Flight

Your days

Day 1 Berat	Fri 16 Oct
Day 2 Berat	Sat 17 Oct
Day 3 Berat	Sun 18 Oct
Day 4 Gjirokastër	Mon 19 Oct
Day 5 Gjirokastër	Tue 20 Oct
Day 6 Gjirokastër	Wed 21 Oct

Before you go

Furgon minibuses run everything

Intercity travel is by furgon (shared minibus) and coach: Tirana to Berat about 400 to 500 lek (4 to 5 EUR), Tirana to Sarande about 1300 to 1500 lek. No online booking; pay cash at departure lots (ask for the terminali). They leave when full, go early morning.

Bring euros in cash, avoid ATM fees

Most Albanian ATMs charge foreign cards 500 to 800 lek (5 to 8 EUR) per withdrawal. Bring euro cash and exchange at city-centre bureaus (tight spreads, no commission) instead. Everyday prices are the lowest on the Adriatic: byrek under 1 EUR, full grill meals 5 to 8 EUR, coffee 0.60 to 1 EUR.

Albania is outside EU roaming

EU plans charge roaming in Albania. Vodafone AL and One tourist packs (about 10 to 15 EUR for 20+ GB, sold in city shops, pricier at the airport) or a Balkans eSIM cover it; Albania shares free roaming with the other Western Balkan countries (RS, ME, BA, MK), so one local SIM covers a whole Balkan loop.

Riviera guesthouses off-peak

Ksamil and Himare guesthouses that charge 60 to 90 EUR in August fall to 25 to 40 EUR in June and September with identical weather; many take walk-ins cheaper than platform rates. Water stays warm through September.

Book low-cost carriers 4 to 10 weeks out

Ryanair, Wizz Air, Vueling and Volotea fares are cheapest roughly 4 to 10 weeks before departure (6 to 8 weeks for short-haul), and rise sharply inside 2 weeks. Booking on a Tuesday or Wednesday is measurably cheaper than weekends, when demand pushes dynamic prices up.

Shift travel dates by 1 to 2 days

On low-cost carriers, departing Tuesday, Wednesday or Saturday instead of Friday or Sunday commonly cuts the fare by 30 to 50%. Always check the airline's own low-fare calendar (Ryanair Fare Finder, Wizz timetable view) rather than a single date.

New bigger free personal bag on Ryanair

Since the end of summer 2025 Ryanair's free under-seat bag is 40x30x20 cm (24 litres, up 20% from 40x25x20). All Airlines for Europe members adopted this minimum, so one well-packed 24L backpack now flies free on Ryanair, Wizz, Vueling and Volotea. Skip priority boarding unless you truly need a second cabin bag.

Check in online to dodge airport fees

Ryanair charges around 55 EUR for airport check-in and up to 20 EUR to print a boarding pass at some airports. Check in via the app (opens 24h or 60 days ahead with paid seats) and screenshot the pass. Wizz Air charges about 35 EUR for airport check-in too.

Mediterranean shoulder months: May to mid June, mid Sept to Oct

In Spain, Italy, Greece, Croatia and Portugal, accommodation runs 30 to 50% below July and August prices in late May, early June, and mid September to October, and the sea is warmest in September. Northern Europe's sweet spots are May and September.

Interrail only beats advance fares for fast multi-country trips

A Global Pass 7 days in 1 month costs about 381 EUR adult 2nd class in 2026 (youth 12 to 27 roughly 25% less, about 286 EUR), so each travel day must be worth 54+ EUR. High-speed trains in France, Spain and Italy also need paid reservations of 10 to 20 EUR per leg on top. If you can book 2+ months ahead, national advance fares usually win; the pass wins for spontaneous long hops (e.g. Germany, Benelux, Austria have no reservation fees).

Credits and sources

Berat, Albania

Generated by Carta on 16 October 2026. Prices and availability move; links open live searches.